

The Indiana Telephone Privacy Law has actually improved the quality of my life. Immediately upon its enactment, I noticed a dramatic decrease in the number of calls per day. Now, I may receive none, one, or two telemarketing calls per day. Before the law, I would receive around 5-10 PER DAY !!! That was unacceptable. My phone seemed to ring constantly...particularly at dinner time. This was a huge interruption to my life. To avoid answering calls from telemarketers I ended up getting caller id, an extra expense for me. Now, when the phone rings, I'm pretty sure it's a friend or family member and I no longer cringe when I hear it ring.

Please do not implement any proposal that may lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections !!!
